Greetings from Montezuma,

As we reflect on the past year, I am struck by how our commitment to the UWC mission continues to manifest in profound and often unexpected ways.

This year, a primary focus was the expansion of our learning expeditions that aim to more closely integrate the experiential component of a UWC education into the theoretical framework of the formal IB curriculum. Our dedicated educational team introduced new field excursions across the diverse landscapes of New Mexico. These journeys served several of our strategic goals:

- Educational integration: We have more formally woven our partnerships with local organizations and agencies into the fabric of our curriculum, providing opportunities for students to apply classroom learning to real world settings.
- Placed-based learning: As students and staff spent more time within the local community, we witnessed a deepening of individual relationships and mutual understanding rooted in the community where we live, learn and work.
- Student well-being: By providing frequent opportunities to engage with the world beyond our campus, we observed a tangible reduction in student stress and a renewed sense of perspective.

While the outcomes of new initiatives like this can never be fully predicted, our success is no accident. It is the result of a school community and a board that remain rigorously aligned with the UWC mission.

In that spirit of service, I wish to extend a heartfelt thank you to our departing board members: Peter Alderman AC '91, Klaus Desmet '88, Preeti Khandelwal AC '84, Marybeth Kravets, and Melanie Weston '86. Their years of tireless advocacy and wisdom have left an indelible mark on our institution.

Finally, my deepest gratitude goes to our global network of alumni and friends. Your roles as hosts for our students, ambassadors of the school, and investors in our mission are the lifeblood of UWC-USA. Your vital scholarship support ensures that we remain open for students from all walks of life and continues to add to the richness of the experience on campus each year.

Thank you for your continued support and belief in our mission.

Sincerely,

Aly Kassam-Remtulla '94

GRATEFUL FOR OUR DONORS

UWC-USA would not be able to support our students over their two years in Montezuma without the generosity of our alumni and friends. We are immeasurably grateful to everyone who made a gift this year to advance the UWC mission and give our students a world class education.

Parent Donor:

AWAIS SUFI - PARENT OF MARIAM SUFI '25

"It was amazing to watch my daughter's growth over two years at UWC-USA. She developed a more mature perspective and her ability to appreciate and navigate complex challenges increased dramatically. When you bring together exceptional young people and equip them with skills and understanding to address the challenges we face across the globe today, I feel confident that we can see improvement. For me it's an easy ask – I support the school because these students represent a real way to change the world."

Young Alumni Donor:

BEN VARAH '18

"I tell people that attending UWC was the best decision I've ever made. I came seeking academic challenge, and I left with perspective that fundamentally changed how I view life. I support UWC not because it's a great place to learn, but because UWC encourages you to engage with how you can use what you've learned to better the world. You will laugh and you will cry, but you will learn about what it means to be human."

GRATEFUL FOR OUR COMMUNITY PARTNERS: OLD WOOD

Community partnerships support the work of UWC-USA in the community and in the classroom. One particular partnership focuses on helping UWC-USA students learn about sustainable forestry practices and entrepreneurship.

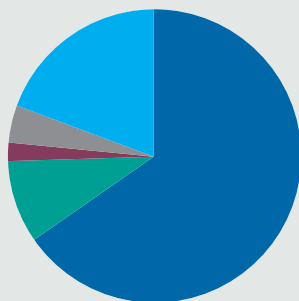

Old Wood, a local company founded by David Old, produces firewood, building supplies, and elegant wood products using sustainable practices. IB Economics spent a morning with David and his team learning about the challenges of creating a sustainable product and bringing it to market.

The team at Old Wood was impressed with how the UWC-USA students asked thoughtful questions and expressed genuine interest in their work.

“Old Wood firmly believes in the philosophy of ‘doing good by doing good.’ Our work has always been rooted in the idea that sustainable business practices can—and should—benefit both people and the planet. We believe it’s important to share not only what we do, but how we do it—with our local community and beyond,” said Mika Old, who directs Old Wood’s marketing and sales departments. “On a personal note, one of my earliest memories in this business was accompanying my dad, the founder of Old Wood, to UWC-USA when I was just 12 years old. Many years ago, Old Wood partnered with the World College to provide architectural wood products that still grace its campus today—a collaboration that reflected our dedication to craftsmanship, sustainability, and community connection.”

HONORING U.S. NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEMBERS 24/25 FY

The national committee model of admissions is unique to the UWC schools. Members of the U.S. National Committee spend hours each admissions cycle reviewing student applications, conducting interviews, and staffing the events of the finalist weekend in Montezuma. UWC-USA and the entire UWC movement are grateful for the hard work and dedication of these remarkable volunteers.

GRATEFUL FOR OUR SUPPORTERS: NEW MEXICO ARTS

UWC-USA received approximately $5,500 from New Mexico Arts, the arts funding agency of the State of New Mexico, to support arts initiatives on campus and in the community. Among the funded programs were a spring dance concert, a flamenco dance workshop, and a residency for a local artist during UWC-USA's Annual Conference.

The funding supported UWC-USA students and advanced their ability to express themselves creatively. The events were also open to the broader public. "We think of our spring dance concert as our gift to the Las Vegas community every spring," said UWC-USA dance instructor Judi Harrison Ruprecht. Each year several hundred local students and their families attend the event and Ruprecht feels that the event encourages youth in Las Vegas to explore dance as a creative medium.

[draft quote from NMA] "We're pleased to support UWC-USA's arts initiatives because they provide a global and local audience for New Mexico artists. They consistently bring high quality artistic experiences to students from Las Vegas and across New Mexico."

The flamenco workshop was led by Ysabella Trujillo from Corrales. Jess Clark, from Santa Fe, provided a series of workshops during the UWC-USA Annual Conference exploring how the arts can reinforce the community's efforts to create a more sustainable world.

A LEGACY OF LEADERSHIP

As UWC-USA marks another year of growth and reflection, we extend our deepest thanks to four departing trustees whose leadership, expertise, and steady commitment have helped guide the school through important moments of transition and progress. Their service reflects the best of the UWC spirit: thoughtful governance, intellectual rigor, and a deep belief in the transformative power of education.

MELANIE WESTON '86 served on the Advancement and Education Committees, bringing both professional insight and lived UWC experience to her work. A speech-language pathologist based in New York, Melanie has spent more than two decades supporting culturally and linguistically diverse children and families, with a particular focus on bilingual and bicultural language acquisition. Her background in school-based practice and early intervention informed her contributions to discussions around student learning, access, and inclusive pedagogy, helping ensure that UWC-USA's educational mission remained both ambitious and humane.

PETER ALDERMAN AC '91 brought a strategic lens to the Board, with a special focus on long-term planning. As general counsel for the Americas at GoldenTree Asset Management, and previously an attorney at Debevoise & Plimpton, Peter contributed a disciplined, analytical approach to governance. His work on strategic planning helped the Board think carefully about institutional resilience, risk, and opportunity—ensuring that UWC-USA is well positioned for the future while remaining grounded in its mission.

MARYBETH KRAVETS served on the Education Committee with a particular emphasis on admissions. A nationally recognized leader in college counseling, Marybeth is director of college counseling at Wolcott School, president of Marybeth Kravets & Associates, a past president of the National Association for College Admission Counseling, and co-author of The K&W Guide to Colleges for Students with Learning Differences. Her deep expertise in access, equity, and student support strengthened Board conversations around admissions philosophy and student pathways beyond UWC-USA.

KLAUS DESMET '88 served on the Education and Admissions Committees, contributing a global and analytical perspective shaped by his career as an economist and scholar. Now a professor at Southern Methodist University, Klaus's research spans urban economics, trade, growth, climate change, and diversity. His academic rigor and international experience enriched Board deliberations on educational outcomes, institutional data, and the broader global context in which UWC-USA operates.

We are profoundly grateful to Melanie, Peter, Marybeth, and Klaus for their service, generosity with their time, and thoughtful leadership. Their contributions have helped strengthen UWC-USA at a pivotal moment, and their impact will be felt for years to come.
